All the houses on Archer avenue from No. 170 to 182, five on Stuart avenue and five on Twenty-third street, were burned, including a planing mill and vinegar factory. Opinion of Attorney General Hoar on the Virginia Senatorial Question—He Thinks the Military Commander Should Not Interfere.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

RICHMOND, Sept. 29.—The opinion of Attorney General Hoar on the Senatorial question is published. It bears date Sept. 25th, and says: Upon a careful consideration, I am of the opinion that the election of Senators, like the voting upon the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States, is a part of the action contemplated by Congress as preliminary to a restoration of the State to its full relation to the Government of the United States as one of the States of the Union. The Senators thus elected would have no power or authority until the Senate of the United States should have passed upon the validity of their action, and admitted them as members. The election of Senators does not seem to me to transcend the action which comes within the limited and qualified purposes requisite to reconstruction, but rather to be essential to the completeness of that action, and I think the military commander should not interfere with or prevent it.

—The Springfield Republican says W. A. Richardson, having made a fair trial of both his offices, has concluded that on the whole, he prefers to be a Probate Judge in Massachusetts, and has resigned the position of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

IT IS a curious fact that men who have been prodigal of their lives in battle, and have passed through many "hair-breath escapes i' th' imminent deadly breach," should have so great a dread of death when it comes from the hand of an assassin. It is said that Cromwell was never seen to smile after he had read "Killing no Murder," in which was advocated his assassination. Sir Neil Campbell, in his journal lately published, gives us a graphic account of the fear which Napoleon felt for his life during the journey from Fontainebleau to Elba. On leaving Orange, where he had been received with derision and abuse, he left his carriage, and, enveloping himself in a Russian cloak, and wearing the white cockade in a common round hat, he rode on in advance of his escort, accompanied by only a single courier, and during the rest of the journey repeatedly changed names and clothes with the commissioners who accompanied him. So, chary, then, of life was the hero of Lodi.

A Remarkable School Mistress.

Dr. N. T. True, School Superintendent of Oxford county, Maine, has made a special report concerning a school mistress in that State and her work. Her name is Vesta Howard, and she teaches in the town of Bethel. She is fifty-five years old, and has taught seventy terms of private and public school. Yet, says Dr. True, she is far in advance of most young teachers, instead of being antiquated. The following are extracts from the account of her school:

"She commenced her afternoon session by saying that she did not think it best to set the children immediately to work upon their studies, because they had been at their play, and were not in the best condition for close application. She therefore took a second Progressive Reader and read a story as badly as she could, and let them correct her faults. She then read it correctly and as one would talk, and all eyes were fixed on her. She then called a register of scholars by numbers, who answered by their names and ages. Among them was a Winfield Scott, General Fremont and other prominent names; and as they were announced she had a word to say about their history, without scarcely stopping her register. She then made them all take their books out of their seats together, without noise. No slates were to hit the desk, or books to be shuffled. She selects a Captain for each of the smaller classes, who steps out and calls the class out by numbers. Books are all held alike. This makes them executive scholars.

"In reading, small children repeat the same word till they can command it in the sentence, and then they read it in concert. In spelling they fold their arms with the book under the left arm. Sometimes she spells the words and they pronounce them. This was a fine exercise. She made them pronounce correctly, cow, bow, now, bow, row. They made a graceful bow in leaving for their seats. Each class has a definite time for studying a lesson, and the teacher calls their attention to it at the moment.

"They came out to read with folded arms, read with strong emphasis, and naturally. She makes them look at her lips, and she pronounces words round and full and makes them do the same after her. While hearing a class reading, if a class is studying geography, she will suddenly call their attention to some point in the lesson, and then go right on with the reading. She will call upon a scholar by surprise to rise and tell something about the lesson she is studying. This was done with great promptness. This kept them on the alert.

"She has bouquets all around the room, and maps and pictures on the walls, to make the room look pleasant. Not a book or pencil is heard prominently.

"She questions them in what they have read. In spelling, they give familiar definitions in their own language, and are required to pronounce each letter fully and forcibly."

English Legal Rulings.

In the case of a carman having orders to deliver goods to a certain person, but who delivered them in mistake to another person, who appropriated them to his own use, it has been held that the carman did not part with the property in delivering them to a wrong party, and that the latter, in appropriating them to his own use, was guilty of larceny.

The prisoner obtained a sum of money from the prosecutor by pretending that he carried on and extensive business as an auctioneer an house-agent, and that he wanted a clerk, and that the money was to be deposited as security for the prosecutor's honesty as such clerk. The jury found that the prisoner was not carrying on any such business at all. Held, that this was an indictable false pretence.

After a receipt was signed by the person giving it, the person to whom it was given added words above the signature. Held, that it was for the jury to say whether the addition of those words altered the effect of the receipt. Held, also, that it was doubtful whether such addition amounted to a forgery.

Prisoner was found with dead fowls in his posession of which he could give no account, and was tracked to a fowl house where a number of fowl were kept, and on the floor of which some feathers corresponding with the feathers of one found on the prisoner, from the neck of which feathers had been removed. The fowl-house, which was closed over night, was found open in the morning. The spot where the prisoner was found was 1,200 from the fowl-house, and the prosecutor, not knowing the number of folws kept, could not swear that he had lost any. Held, that there was evidence to support a conviction for larceny.

AFTER the jury in the case of Griffin, the engineer whose negligence caused the railroad disaster at Mast Hope, had rendered their verdict, "not guilty," Judge Barrett told them it was "against law, against justice, and an outrage against humanity," and added: "You violated the obligations of your oath, a plain, simple obligation to rendur a verdict according to the evidence. Instead of that, you rendered a verdict against every particle of evidence. I am astonished that you should in this way set aside the law and violate your oaths; and I trust that the spirits of the dead, dying, bleeding, and burnt victims of Mast Hope will rebuke you as long as you live." He finally bade them leave the court-room, as they were "not fit to act as jurymen," and he "would not try cases before such a jury."

—It is expected that at the coming meeting of the directors of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, as the trade of the road is rapidly growing beyond its present capacity, an order will be issued to lay and additional track. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has agreed to pass back free all members of the Commercial Convention having the President's certificate of having come over that road. The Cleveland and Columbus Road has taken the same action.

The Pittsburgh foundling sensation has gone the rounds of the press in all sorts of shapes, until finally St. Louis is credited with the production.

The Burdell murder mystery is again revived in New York, owing to the alleged discovery of concealed clothing in the house where the tragedy was enacted.

Slender party (who is not very comfortable)—"These street cars ought to charge by weight." Stout party (sharply)—"Ah! if they did, they would never stop to pick you up."

A Memphis (Tenn.) paper contends that a cotton factory in that city will clear exactly $82.75 more on every bale of cotton woven into cloth than there can be made at Lowell, Mass.

The sale of liquor has been stopped in Calais, Me., and as a result an omnibus has been placed on the route between that city and St. Stephen, N. B. The line does a driving business.

It is stated that there are now about four hundred subordinate lodges of the Knights of Pythias, (of which Pennsylvania has one hundred and ninety), with a membership of over one hundred thousand.

A Kentucky Judge addressed John C. Breckinridge as General, last week, whereupon he suggested that hereafter all military titles be disregarded in the court room. The Judge acquiesced, saying he would adopt the suggestion in future with great pleasure.

The latest tombstone inscription, located at San Diego, Cal., is given thus: "This year is sakred to the memory of William Henry Shaken, who came to his death being shot with Colt's revolvers—one of the old kind, brass mounted—and of such is the kingdom of Heaven."

The Chicago Republican of Tuesday says: "The jury called for the trial of criminal causes in this Court was discharged yesterday morning by Judge McAllister apparently for the reason that their general appearance was scarcely more creditable than the prisoners arraigned."

The St. Crispins, in Massachusetts, who have 110 lodges, with a membership of over 30,000, have made arrangements to purchase coal in Philadelphia and flour in the West, and to transport them to that State for their use. They expect to obtain these articles by this means at a very cheap rate.

A French convict, after having served twenty-five years imprisonment for his crime at Cayenne, returned to France and attracted the attention of the police by his lavish expenditure of money. He was arrested, and stated that he had found the money of the man whom he had murdered in the place where he had concealed it.

A domestic romance comes from New York. Twenty-two years ago a couple were married, had one son, lived together ten years, and then, after losing all their property, procured a divorce. The woman married again, and got a fortune; the husband did'nt, and remained poor. And now that the woman has become a rich widow, she has re-married her first husband.

An enterprising colored man in Trenton, N. J., devised a petition to the common council of that city, asking for an enlargement of the school house for colored children. It occurred to him that the signatures of certain white folks might be serviceable, and he applied for and obtained a large number. The petition commences, "We, the parents of the colored children!"

Some excitement has been created at Columbus, Miss., by the appearance there of four immense insects, supposed to be Egyptian locusts. They were three times as large as the common locusts, with large black eyes, legs of great strength, feathers like a Shanghai chicken, tails similarly adorned, and a hard shell covering. The like of them was never seen before by the oldest inhabitants.

On the first Tuesday in October the qualified voters of Hudson county, N. J., are to decide the most important question ever submitted to them. Under an act of the legislature of New Jersey at its last session, the voters of the five cities and townships in the county of Hudson, lying between the Hudson and Passaic rivers, are to decide whether these cities and township shall be consolidated into one municipal organization.

The vaults of the Bank of France, which, it is asserted, contain more treasure than any other single spot on the face of the globe, are accessible through an iron door, which has three keys, kept by the principal officers. The iron stairway leading to the vault can be detached, and by chemical apparatus a supply of deadly gas is made to permeate every part, destroying human life in a few seconds, while the whole vault can be submerged at ten minutes notice, so that any attempt to rob it would be attended with certain death.

George R. Lingle, an editor and printer of Sedalia, has commenced suit against the city of St. Louis, for alleged false imprisonment. He states that he was arrested, imprisoned and detained in a dark, filthy cell, filled with vermin, without bed or board, or any of the comforts of life, without any reasonable cause, for two days and nights. He says he is damaged to the amount of $10,000, for which he asks judgment.

Since the Western Pacific Railroad, uniting Sacramento and San Francisco, was completed, attention has been turned to the other railroad projects which have been delayed until that important link should be opened. Laborers are already beginning to grade the California and Oregon Railroad, and another proposed line from Stockton to tap the Southern Pacific line when that shall be built, is also to be immediately entered upon.

The German-American citizens of Springfield, Mass., have under consideration a plan for the formation of a permanent union of Germans and Americans, to contain the following departments: Educational department with evening classes, for members and their children, in languages, drawing and natural sciences; a literary scientific section, a singing society, a Turnverein, a reading room, chess club and theatricals, all free of admission to members of the society and their children. A mutual relief society, for cases of sickness and death, a trades union and other institutions are also projected, and will be introduced as soon as the number of members will warrant such steps.

The last surviving soldier of the Revolution pensioned under the general laws died in 1867, and of the two soldiers pensioned by special acts of Congress, David F. Bakeman, of New York, survived at the date of last year's pension report. Nancy Serena, of Pittsburgh, Pa., is the only survivor of revolutionary widows married prior to the close of the war. Of those married to soldiers of the Revolution since January 1, 1793, 888 remained upon the rolls November 1, 1868, but as the decrease by death in the year preceding that date amounted to 109, the number will now probably not reach 800. The total amount of pensions paid to revolutionary soldiers is $46,082,175, and to their widows and orphans, $19,254,755. The revolutionary widows will disappear from the rolls with increasing ratio each year, and in a short time the revolutionary pension list will have ceased to exist.

STATE ITEMS.

Berks county has a Historical Society, organized a short time since.

Prof. Wise, the aeronaut, will make an ascension at Reading this week.

The fund in Philadelphia for the Avondale disaster amounts to over $30,000. When will Pittsburgh be heard from?

Abraham Doutts, of Fairfield, Crawford county, last week, in jumping from the hay-mow to the main floor of his barn, struck his side upon a pitch-fork standing upright. The prongs entered between the ribs and emerged near the collar bone, inflicting serious, though not necessarily dangerous, injuries.

Sunday morning last the hardware store of J. D. Gill & Co., in Meadville, was entered by burglars, the safe blown open and valuables extracted therefrom, consisting of $3,300 in Gas stock, $5,000 in Bear Creek R. R. bonds, $10,000 in Shenango & Allegheny R. R. stock, $12,000 in Mercer Mining and Manufacturing stock, and between $300 and $500 in money.

Another allocatur, applied for in the case of Adam Titus, convicted of the murder of Henry Strahm, in Cumberland county, has been refused by the Supreme Court at Philadelphia. The only ground upon which the writ was asked was that the Judges of the Court of Oyer and Terminer in determining the degree of murder by the prisoner and his plea of "guilty," separated or adjourned from time to time during the examination. The Supreme Court says that "no law, practice, usage or reason required the Court to remain without adjournment during such examinations."

At a meeting of citizens, in Beaver, last week, the chairman, John Caughey, Esq., stated that it was in contemplation to build a railroad from Baltimore to Chicago, via Pittsburgh, and when built the new road would be much shorter than the one now running from Philadelphia to Chicago. The new road, it was supposed, would pass through Beaver county. Three routes have been spoken of. The upper or Brady's Run route, is the one the people of Beaver and vicinity are most interested in, and the purpose of the meeting was to raise funds sufficient to make a preliminary survey of that route. This survey, it was understood, would be made within a short time. Funds for making it were contributed.

A person was tried before Judge Brewster, in Philadelphia, charged with obtaining money fraudulently. It seems that he presented a check for fifty dollars, and asked to have it paid in fives and tens; but the teller taking his check to call for five hundred dollars instead of fifty, offered him a made-up batch of notes composed of tens and twenties and amounting to that sum, as the teller declared, and asked if they would do. He said yes, and carried the package off. When the mistake was discovered the defendant was notified of it, but he denied receiving more than fifty! Thus the matter stood. Judge Brewster said that the charge of false representation could not be sustained, as the defendant obtained the money without any solicitation on his part; but as to the question of larceny he would give no opinion. The defendant was therefore discharged, probably only to be indicted on the other charge.

The Hoosac Tunnel.

The excavations in the Hoosac Tunnel have recently been seriously interfered with by the occurrence of a soft place, but the workmen have at last overcome the difficulties, and have reached a point one hundred feet beyond. The soft place was about twelve feet in width, composed of soft and rotten stone filled with water, which kept slowly falling in until timbered up. The tunnel fell for the whole width, leaving a cavity above about forty feet high, all of which had to be filled up and made firm with wood and timber, and will have to be arched with brick. The material beyond this place, it is stated, is the best hitherto met with, being mica slate, and blasts off in large flakes, suitable for building purposes. The rate of the progress now is about forty feet per week on the east end of the tunnel, it is reported.

THE CROPS.

Monthly Report of the Commissioner of Agriculture.

The Department of Agriculture furnishes a summary of the crop reports. A summary is given showing the mean temperature and rain fall of several States for July and August, as contrasted with those months last year. The region most subject to drought, that west of the Mississippi and Missouri, has had the most regular supply of rain, and the valley of the former has had an abundant rain fall to its mouth; while Alabama and Georgia have suffered from drought, and the Atlantic States in a still higher degree, not only throughout the tide water region, but in a large portion of the Eastern States. On the Southern Atlantic seaboard the heat has been greater than in 1868, and the rain fall less. North and east of New York the heat has been less, as also the rain fall. In the one case it was too hot and in the other too cold for corn and other summer crops, which suffered accordingly. While the drought has prevailed east of the Alleghenies, the great Mississippi basin has had an unusual amount of rain. West Virginia and Ohio alone, of the central area, had less rain fall in August than in 1868. The excessive moisture of the summer is sustained to its close, especially in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri. Both the early and the later rains have been somewhat extraordinary west of the Missouri, yet the high temperature and deep, thirsty soils of that region have converted the visitation into a blessing. The drought of the seaboard has not been equalled in many years. The comparison between this year and last shows that New England has had but one-third as much rain in August of the present year, New York a little more than one-half, New Jersey scarcly one-eighth, Pennsylvania one-sixth, Maryland one-ninth. Extracts from correspondence will show the injurious effects of this excessive drought on corn, cotton and garden vegetables.

Corn—The corn crop has been the prey of numerous ills in every section of the country. The only States that now show an average condition are Nebraska, Kansas, Florida, Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas. Excessive rains retarding planting and necessitated replanting in the spring throughout the West and South. Cold, wet weather, prevented a healthy, vigorous growth in almost every State, and in the season of earing and maturing a serious draught affected it on the Atlantic coast, with injurious heat in the South, and unfavorable reduction of temperature in the North. In deep, soils, naturally drained, the extreme moisture of the West did no injury. In heavy or flat lands, with clay subsoil, the damage was great, in some cases resulting in total failure. The loss as shown in the table is forty-nine per cent. in Virginia; form thirty to forty in Maine, Vermont, Maryland, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin; from twenty to thirty in New Hampshire, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Georgia, Indiana, Ohio, Iowa, and Minnesota; from ten to twenty in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, and from one to ten per cent. in Rhode Island, Alabama, Mississippi, Missouri and California. Unless the close of the season is very favorable there must be 150,000,000 bushels less than a full crop.

Wheat.—This crop, as a whole is larger. The only States showing a decrease are Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and California. Some of it is inferior in quality, but a considerable portion has been injured by rains after harvest. A considerable portion of the Western wheat is of good quality, and that of the South is decidedly superior, Fruits—As a rule, have yielded abundantly, apples in a less degree than other species. New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Michigan and Illinois, all apple regions, have nearly a full supply. New England a material reduction.

Stock Hogs—There is not only a reduction in the number of stock hogs, but also in condition. Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Minnesota, rapidly growing States, have made quite an increase in numbers, as have some of the Southern States. There is apparantly a decrease as compared with last year, of five to ten per cent.

The Extravagance of American Women.

Every month or so newspapers contain accounts of some bride's outfit for married life—her jewels, her silks, her satins, her various finery—all which looks and reads very much like extravagance, and leads often to grave moralizing upon the wastefulness of American women.

No doubt there are extravagant women; but, after all, look at this:

The value of silk and the manufactures of silk imported into the United States for the year ending June 30, 1869, was $22,334,654. Now, in this State of New York, in 1865, there were 1,467,636 women and girls over ten years of age. The sum of $22,334,654, the total value of imported silks, divided among these women and girls, of our State alone, would give only fifteen dollars and twenty-two cents worth of all the goods imported into the United States to each. This is the value of two gallons of fine brandy "imported from France," but in fact oftenest made at home.

This simple fact seems to show that, as a class, American women are not extravagant; as a whole, they are in fact the best of economists; for they make small means go farther in their own expenses, and in their households, than any women in the world. That there are extravagant women, as there are men, no one of course denies. That there are some who live only to make a show and glitter is true; but in comparison with the whole number of wives and mothers, and sisters and daughters, these are but very few indeed. They will make, more cheerfully and without complaint, more devoted sacrifices for their husbands and children, than any other women. They bow with more dignity and grace to the loss of property, and bear up with more resolution and fortitude under adverse circumstances, than any others of their sex. There never has been exhibited in the world's history more and nobler heroism or greater self-sacrifice, than by the women of the United States during the late rebellion.

Go up and down Broadway, through all the streets, into all the cities and large towns, and where you find one place fitted up for women to trade and buy in you will find ten saloons, restaurants, grog-shops, cigar stores, sample rooms, concert halls and other places, where men pay large sums in the aggregate for things which profit neither "body, mind nor estate," but weaken the one, enervate the other and waste the last.

DR. WHITTIER
CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL private diseases. Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhœa, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhœa, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. Sundays 10 A. M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa

The total amount of bonds delivered to the Treasury to-day was $2,500,000, and currency disbursed therefore $2,668,000 in United States notes. This leaves $700,000 bonds to to be paid for to morrow. These disbursements afforded some relief to the money market to-day.

The Sub-Treasury balance yesterday was $89,110,833.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

PENN'A CENTRAL STOCK YARDS, WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, 1869.

CATTLE.

The market thus far this week has been exceedingly dull and heavy, and with an unusually large supply and only a moderate demand, prices, especially for the lower grades, have declined materially. Another thing that tended to depress the market was the unfavorable advices from the east, and shippers generally seemed determined not to buy unless they could do so at a reduction. The offerings consisted mainly of the lower grades, and as a consequence, this class of stock ruled lower than the better grades, of which there were but comparatively few on sale. To-day all the pens in the yards were full to overflowing, and compared with last week, prices for all grades are from a quarter to a half lower.

SHEEP.

There was a very full supply of sheep on sale this week, but as in the case of cattle, the great proportion of the offerings were of the lower grades; as a consequence, while prime fat sheep sold readily at full prices, the common and even medium grades were exceedingly dull, and to effect sales, concessions, in many cases, had to be made. The former may be quoted at 4½@5 cents, and the latter at 3 to 3½@4. We did hear of 5¼ having been offered for a drove of extra, but this is an outside price, as the sheep referred to were very fine.

HOGS.

With very light arrivals and a good shipping demand, the market has been very firm and somewhat excited thus far this week, and prices are from a ¼ to ½ higher. We now quote Philadelphia hogs at 10½ to 10,80@11, and Yorkers at 9¾ to 9¾@10. McPherson sold 50 head of fancy Washington county hogs averaging about 335 pounds, at 11,20, and Watson sold a double deck of fancy western, averaging close on to 400 lbs, at 11,45.

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, September 29.—The disturbed state of the gold and money market have an unfavorable influence on the dry goods trade, which is characterized by less activity and somewhat depressed for various styles of cotton fabrics. Harrisburg 4-4 brown goods are reduced from 13½c to 13c, do 7-8 from 12½c to 12c, and do N 30 inch from 11½c to 11c. Boston blue denims are down to 14½c, standard 4-4 brown from 13c to 12½c, Potapsco wool from 16½c to 15½c, and do cotton from 14½c to 13½c.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, 1869.

Business generally is improving slightly, and with fine weather and navigation again fully resumed, the indications for a still further improvement are encouraging. The great drawback just now is the financial troubles in New York, the uncertainty in regard to the course of gold, and the stringency in money matters; money is exceedingly tight here and the banks, as a general thing, are confining discounts to their regular customers, so that an outsider stands but little show of getting money.

APPLES—In rather better demand and market more active; sales at $1,50@2,50, for fair to choice.

BUTTER—Is quiet and unchanged with a supply considerably in excess of the demand; we continue to quote at 25@30, for fair to choice.

CRANBERRIES—Sales of prime eastern cultivated at $11,50@12,00 per bbl.

CHEESE—Is steady with a steady demand but unchanged, ranging from 14@17, the outside figure for Goshen.

CARBON OIL—The demand is improving steadily, and the market is firm but unchanged; 28½ for round lots and 30@31 in a jobbing way.

EGGS—Sales at 21@22, and demand rather better.

FEATHERS—Dull: quoted at 80@85 cents to the trade, and the usual advance for small lots in store.

FLOUR—Is quiet and dull, but unchanged. Winter wheat brands are being sold to the trade at $6,75@7. Little or no inquiry for Srping wheat flours, and the stock in this market is very much reduced.

GRAIN—Wheat is not offering very freely and there is no stock here except what is in the hands of mills; prime red is still quoted at $1,30, and prime white at $1,35. Oats coming in more freely, and dull and drooping; we now quote at 50@52 on track, and 53@55 for small lots in store. There is some inquiry for rye, but as yet, there are no buyers here above $1,10. Barley is moving very slowly, and it is said that the crop in Western Pennsylvania as well as in Eastern Ohio, was not secured in good condition, that the grain is stained which detracts somewhat from its sale and value, One of our most prominent brewers informed us to-day that he would probably have to bring most of his supplies this year from Canada.

HAY—Sales from country wagons at $15@22, as to quality.

HEMP—Very dull; $205 per ton.

HUSKS—Sales at 2¾@3 cts per pound.

LARD OIL—F. Sellers & Co. quote Extra No. 1, at $1,43@1,45, and No. 2, at $1,05@1,08

PROVISIONS—Firmer and higher. Shoulders, 16¼@16½; Ribbed Sides, 19; Short Ribbed, 19¾; Clear do, 20; plain Sugar Cured Hams, 22½; Cavassed do, 23½. Mess Pork, $33½@33¾. Lard, 20½ in tirces, 20¾ in bbls, and 21¼ in kegs.

PEANUTS—None in hands of commission men.

PEACHES—The season is about over, at least so far as the commission houses are concerned, the price having got so low that they would not bear shipment from abroad. There are still plenty in market, however, with sales at $1@2 per bushel, choice $2,50.

POTATOES—Fresh receipts of Jersey sweets, firmer and higher; we now quote at $5,25@5,50 per bbl.

SEED—Flaxseed is in demand, and the mills are paying $2,20@2,25. Small sales of timothy seed at $4,25@4,50. No demand for clover seed.

SALT—Is firmer, with sales of car load lots at $1,85 per bbl.

STRAW—Sold in Allegheny market at $12 per ton.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, 1869.

The oil market was decidedly panicky to-day, in sympathy with the gold and money panic in New York, and refined closed weak at a decline of ⅝ to ¾, compared with the opening price this morning. Nearly every telegram in the afternoon reported a declina, and if it keeps on the "shorts," if there are any here, will get out whith a whole skin and, possibly, realize a margin, instead of incurring a loss, as was expected ten days ago, As is nearly always the case, however, on a declining market, there were but very few buyers, eyen at the reduction, as the feeling seemed to prevail that the bottom has not yet been reached, and that prices would go still lower. There are those, however, who still entertain hopes of better things in the future, notwithstanding it looks rather discouraging just now, as they argue that one extreme generally follows another, and that the quicker the bottom is touched the sooner there will be a reaction.

CRUDE.

Market dull and weak with a drooping tendency. Sales or "settlements" of some seven thousand barrels for September, at 14¾, and 2,000 seller October at 14¾. This afternoon spot was offering at 14¾, with but few buyers above 14¼ @14½; seller all 1869 nominal at 14; and buyer at 14¾. Telegrams from Oil City report a decline with offers to sell on creek equal to $5,75 per bbl at that place.

REFINED.

As already intimated was weak and panicky and ⅝@¾ of a cent lower, and at the close it looked as if the bottom had not yet been reached. Sales 500 September at 31½; 2,000 do at 31½; 2,000 at 31⅜; 1,500 at 31½; and 500 at 31. Later, best offers 30¾ with 30½ bid. We can report 2,000 bbls October at 32; and last three months may be quoted at 32@32¼.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily with six feet two inches in the channel. Weather clear and pleasant—mercury 65 in shade at 4 P. M.

The Mollie Ebert departed for Cincinnati with a good freight list, and a fair number of passengers. Capt. Jake Poe was one of the pilots, and Capt. G. W. Ebert, we presume, was the other.

The New State arrived and departed as usual, and the Belle cleared for Parkersburg.

The tow-boat Hawkeye, arrived from St. Louis with a barge of metal.

The Sallie was expected to arrive at Cincinnati last night. She will immediately reload for Pittsburgh.

Capt. Dan Moore is still at Madison looking after what remains of the illfated J. N. McCullough.

It is expected that Lock No. 2 on the Monongahela will be ready for business early next week.

—The Wild Duck arrived at St. Louis on Monday.

—The Argosy is loading at Cincinnati for Memphis.

—The Julia A. Rudolph arrived at New Orleans on Monday.

—The Camelia left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Monday. Pilots—Clark and Williamson.

—The tow-boat Wild Cat en route from St. Louis to Pittsburgh, passed Evansville on Monday.

—The St. Marys, it appears from our late Cincinnati exchanges, will be up there for about ten days to paint.

—The St. Charles, noted as one of the boats that could run through three hundred foot spans, is to be sold at auction to-day.

—Captain Greathouse's boat, St. Johns, now being built at Madison, is nearing completion, and will be handsome boat. She will be launched about the 3d of October, and receive her machinery at Louisville.

—Captain Kouns' Red River packet will be launched to-day at Madison. The machinery of his boat was built by Cobb, Stribling & Co., of Madison, Ind., under the superintendence Mr. H. J. Billings, and is of the very best style. She is to receive her outfit at Louisville.

—The St. Louis Democrat, of Sunday Says: Business is really excellent. A boat left for Arkansas river with 500 tons, after refusing freight, which was taken on another boat loading for the same stream. A boat has began loading for Red river direct, and dray loads of freight marked for Shreveport could be seen moving along Main street. We believe that the merchants of St. Louis are becoming wider awake than they ever were. It is really time they were taking proper steps for the acquisition of the Arkansas and Red river trades.

—The Guidon, which left Memphis, Monday, loaded to the guards, for Arkansas River, with a valuable cargo of dry goods, boots, shoes, plantation supplies, agricultural implements, &c., struck a hidden obstruction on Tuesday night, near Red Fork, knocking a hole in her hull, and causing her to sink in four feet water. She was run on a bar, a bulkhead built around the hole, and a large portion of the deck freight landed. She was subsequently raised and proceeded on her way. The damage to the cargo is not ascertained.

—Sunday's Louisville Courier-Journal says: The announcement of the arrest of Jo. Murray, created considerable excitement in river circles yesterday. The New Albany Ledger of last evening has the following on the subject: Capt. Josiah Murray, who was arrested at his boarding house in Louisville yesterday afternoon charged with burglariously entering the house of Mr. Wm. Eaton, on Water street,. on the night of the 17th inst, was arraigned before Mayor Hart this morning. The case is very complicated one, but, so far as we have been able to learn, there is very little in it. The trial is till in progress as we go to press.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 131¾.

SINCE Carbon and Philadelphia both claim MR. PACKER as a citizen, it is pleasant to anticipate that after the election there will only be a fraction of the candidate left in either. For the combined remnants, $8,95 would be a gorgeous price.

OUR FRIENDS in the Somerset Senatorial district have composed their differences, Mr. Stutsman withdrawing from the ticket, and Mr. Edward Scull, the editor of that excellent journal, the Somerset Whig, taking the vacant place. The district gave about 1,000 majority for GRANT last year, and its Republicans will not now "go back" upon their favorite journalist.

THE Commercial is actuated by a valor as discreet as it is unique. It denounces by name, as "corruptionists" men who are three or four hundred miles away; but it fails to tell who the men are for whose overthrow it counselled the organization of a "People's movement in Allegheny county." Such valor must excite the contempt of many earnest men who looked for better qualities in that quarter.

THE Chinese Mission has been given to a popular and capable citizen of the Pacific Coast. We know Gov. Low, of California, to be a sound Republican, and that he made an excellent member of Congress. We are quite sure that he has the scholarly and diplomatic ability which his new trust demands, and we are only curious to hear whether he accepts or rejects the peculiarly Californian view of the Chinese capacity for the civil, as well as the political privileges of American citizenship.

A VERY IMPORTANT MEETING of the County Republican Committee is to be held on Tuesday next. Its especial importance springs from the request of the Committee, that the Chairmen of all the local Vigilance Committees, in wards, boroughs, townships or precincts, will meet them in the consultation, which it is exepected, will result to the advantage of our Republican army. We have here all the elements of a victory, in the cities, boroughs, county and State, and it needs only to organize them properly, and that will organize the sweeping triumph of Republicanism in the old Keystone Commonwealth.

WHILE we firmly believe that GEARY and WILLIAMS will secure a handsome majority of the suffrages cast in this State on the 12th of October, for the offices for which they are respectively candidates, we earnestly admonish Republican voters not to allow the assurance of victory to relax their efforts. The majorities will be in proportion to the fullness of the poll. What is desirable is not a bare escape from defeat; but a victory so conclusive that it shall electrify and assure our friends throughout the Union. To this end it is needful that due pains be taken to get all the Republican voters out on the day of election. The preliminaries of this work cannot be commenced a moment too soon, or be pressed with too much vigor and persistence.

WE are disposed to admit about all the supporters of Mr. PERSHING may claim for him in respect to personal character and professional attainments. But whatever may be urged in his behalf as to these particulars will not satisfy us that he ought to be raised to the Supreme bench. Mr. SHARSWOOD is the full peer of Mr. PERSHING as a man, and his superior as a lawyer. Yet from the first day he took his seat as one of the Judges of the Supreme Court down to the present hour, he has given the whole weight of his abilities and influence to such construction of the laws as to meet the necessities of the Democratic party. We do not urge this to his special disparagement. Judges are but men, and are certain to be biassed just as other men are. But we urge this as a reason why Republicans should adhere to their judicial candidate. Mr. WILLIAMS sustains a personal character without a blemish, and as a jurist he is greatly superior to his competitor.

THIS MORNING, with appropriate exercises and ceremonies, the corner stone of the foundation of the proposed new High School building, on the hill overlooking Liberty avenue, will be laid, and we trust there will be very general attendance on the part of those interested in the welfare, advancement and prosperity of the system of free and popular education. It is a matter of congratulation that the High school has, after a struggling existence of some fourteen years, at length gained solid foundation in the hearts of the people, and that, from henceforward, it will be more than ever able to work good in its broad educational field, and will daily garner more strength and be better enabled to successfully baffle the efforts of those who thoughtlessly would deprive the people of a People's College, where the rich and poor men's children receive upon equal conditions educations above the average of those imparted at expensive and more pretentions institutions.

VARIABILITY OF SENTIMENT.

In this country, for some years past, a morbid sentimentability has been growing up against the confinement of lunatics. Even jurists of high personal and professional reputation, have gone almost to the extent of declaring that no insane person can be rightfully deprived of liberty except for the commission of an act of dangerous or fatal violence within a few days of the commencement of proceedings looking to restraint.

Opinion in England is vibrating to the other extreme. A leading journal of that country seriously proposes that all individuals who become hopelessly insane shall be killed. If says:

"Is it, or is it not, a false sentiment of mercy to persist in keeping them alive, when we are compelled in self-defense to deprive them of everything which makes life valuable, or even endurable? Since they can be cured neither of their wickedness nor of their disease, and exist as centers of moral infection and causes of crime, violence, misery and danger to all around, would it not be better and wiser to put them out of the way altogether?

Other English journals refuse to go so far, but advocate the killing of all insane criminals; that is, all lunatics whose hallucinations lead them to violate any of the rights of citizens.

If it were possible to consider human beings simply as animals, these sanguinary propositions might be entertained, and even receive a much wider application. If a horse, cow, dog, cat, or other domestic animal is reduced by fracture or disease to a condition in which it is useless, and with no reasonable prospect of amending, the owner is certain to put it out of misery by the speediest method within reach. If, on the contrary, a relative, male or female, is wounded or sick in such a way that death is absolutely inevitable every pains within the compass of art will be taken to protract the anguish or torture to the latest possible second.

Philosophers have, indeed, both in ancient and modern times, speculated upon this disposition to exclude human suffering, and debated whether it should be atributed to genuine kindness or a mawkish sensibility; but these subtle speculations have wrought no change in the practice of civilized society, nor are they like to in coming time. So long as the least flutter of hope remains—nay, after all hope shall entirely depart—will members of a family watch and guard the objects of their love, while they slowly and painfully descend into the dark valley which must ultimately cover the whole human race.

If it were reduced, not simply to a moral certainty, but to an actual one, that a particular lunatic would never recover the normal use of his inteliectual and moral faculties, society might consent to the taking of his life from considerations of benevolence towards him, and of security and economy for his friends and the community. But who will undertake to decide as to that absolute certainty? In wars, when the blood of millions mounts to boiling heat, tens of thousands of lives are held to be of no account in comparison to the attainment of definite military advantages. While these slaughters attest the readiness with which lives are saerificed to accomplish public ends, the experience that comes after administers a deep rebuke to human vanity by demonstrating that few men—perhaps none—are of consequence outside of their special family relations. Hundreds of thousands fell during the late rebellion. Sad and irreparable gaps were made in many households. Hearts here and there, all over the land, still bleed. But the great aggregation which is called the nation moves on as jocund and prosperous as if the shadow of mourning had not been thrown upon a single hearthstone. But, in intervals when fierce passions are hushed, who will undertake the duty of determining whether a particular lunatic shall be permitted to live, with such mitigations of his infirmity as the best medical knowledge renders practicable, or be put to death in the tenderest manner?

PRODUCE THE DOCUMENTS.

We observe that some of the opposition newspapers still insist that Mr. Asa Packer "paid on last year's income, $104,000 taxes." If this be true, the payment must have been the neatest bit of dodging yet performed even by the distinguished artist in that line who heads the opposition ticket. For how did he pay it? To whom? In his own name, or in the name of another? Where is the receipt therefor? Why is that document kept back from the press, when its simple publication would completely satisfy the people of Pennsylvania that this wealthy gentleman has not evaded his just share of the public burthens?

The U. S. Assessor, Mr. J. N. Kerns, gives his official certificate that Mr. Packer's return, last year, for internal revenue taxes, was a watch or two and a lot of silver plate, upon which he paid just $8,95.

There is a great mistake somewhere in this matter. It is easy for the friends of Mr. Packer to produce and print the Collector's receipt. That will tell the truth. If it is not brought to light, the people will be very apt to think that it does not exist. Produce the documents. The people would like to see the papers. Until they do, the official certificate of the Assessor will be worth just $8,95 and no more, for a tax-payer who is reputed to hold at least five millions of bonds.

The State and the Federal governments are both interested in this affair. At least one treasury has been denied its just claims, if not both. And the people are equally interested in each. At present the $8,95 certificate of Assessor Kerns's stands uncontradicted. The opposition must "see that and go something better," or acknowledge the corn. They must "put up or shut up." Produce the documents, or the "bloated bond-holder" who heads your ticket will stand convicted of diddling the treasury of its just taxes upon his vast wealth.

But we hear of something else. The law requires the return to be made by the taxpayer himself personally, if resident, and not by an agent or attorney. Mr. Packer has made no personal return for two years past. His $8.95 of tax was assessed upon a return which, for prudential reasons doubtless, he caused his attorney to swear to. Again, we entreat the opposition to prove the falsity of this statement by producing the documents which shall satisfy an honest public.

A citizen who is capable of defrauding the common treasury of all the people, of the State or of the nation, of any sum whatever, whether by wrongfully taking out what belongs therein, or by covertly keeping back what should honestly go in, is not worthy to be entrusted with office by his countrymen. If the opposition press imagine that Mr. Packer is sure of the full Democratic support, whether this cloud upon his good citizenship be cleared up or not, we can tell them that they will soon see their mistake. There is no party in this country which will knowingly support an unworthy candidate.

STATE POLITICS.

EDWARD SCULL, editor of the Somerset Whig, has been chosen Republican candidate for Senator in the place of Mr. Stutzman, resigned.

THE Philadelphia Press says: "The campaign in the State for the Republicans is becoming very active, and in some sections almost equals the great uprising of last year.

YORK'S burgess achieved infamy during Lee's invasion of Pennsylvania. York county is intensely Democratic still, and has a debt of $200,000, which grows no smaller very fast.

HON. JOHN CESSNA has been fighting Democracy in his own county of Bedford with such success that a very large reduction in the usual Democratic majority is confidently looked for this year.

THE registry of Venango county, which has just been completed, shows an increase of over a thousand votes in that county since the Presidential election. The Republicans of course expect to add largely to their fair majority of last year. They can do it.

HON. HENRY WILSON, Hon. Glenni W. Schofield, Hon. John Covode and others addressed a huge meeting in front of the Union League House in Philadelphia, on Monday. Two stands for speakers were used, and the crowd besides being large, was enthusiastic. A fine display of fireworks greeted the Invincibles when they turned out.

WHAT is patriotism? Is it not a love of one's own country? And how can one exhibit stronger attachment and devotion to a cause than by offering to die for it? Gen. Geary sacrificed his son, on the altar of patriotism, and exposed his own life many times in the defence of our country. We shall pay a tribute to patriotism, if we elect Gov. Geary.—York True Democrat.

UPON what qualifications does Cyrus L. Pershing's claims for Supreme Judge rest? Was he ever a judge? Is he an eminent lawyer? Did he ever conduct an important case? Has he had any experience for the responsibilities of a seat upon the Supreme Bench? All these questions must be answered in the negative. How can any lawyer desire the elevation of such a man to the Bench? If not, then can he vote for Mr. Pershing?

TEMPERANCE AND REFORM CAMPAIGN.

Appointment of Vigilance Committees.

The Temperance and Reform Executive Committee of Allegheny county have selected the following persons to act as Committees of Vigilance for their respective election districts. These Committees are authorized and requested to increase their number by the addition of other names whenever in their opinion such additions will add to their force and efficiency.

The following resolution, adopted by the County Executive Committee before selecting the Committees, will explain the nature of the duties which they are expected to perform:

Resolved, That the Vigilance Committees this day to be selected for the various election districts of this county are expected, in conjunction with this Committee, to take charge of the interests of the Temperance and Reform movement for the ensuing campaign in their respective districts, to see that public meetings are held and to take such measures as will result in bringing out a full vote on election day.

A prompt organization of every Vigilance Committee throughout the county is desirable.

And upon organization each Committee is requested to report to and at once put itself in communication with the officers of the County Executive Committee, at their Headquarters, No. 129 Smithfield street, up stairs.

By order of the County Executive Committee.

All communications to be addressed to the Secretary.

THOU BRINGEST ME LIFE—LUNG-WORT.

One of the truest and most suggestive ideas can be obtained from the caption at the head of this article; for of all diseases which impair human health and shorten human life, none are more prevalent than those which affect the lungs and pulmonary tissues. Whether we regard lung diseases in the light of a merely slight cough, which is but the fore-runner of a more serious malady, or as a deep lesion corroding and dissolving the pulmonary structure, it is always pregnant with evil and foreboding of disaster. In no class of maladies should the physician or the friends and family of the patient be more seriously forewarned than in those of the lungs, for it is in them that early and efficient treatment is most desirable, and it is then that danger can be warded off and a cure effected. In DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE you have a medicine of the greatest value in all these conditions. An alterative, a tonic, a nutrient and resolvent, succoring nature and sustaining the recuperative powers of the system, Its beautiful workings, in harmony with the regular functions, can be readily observed by the use of one or two bottles: it will soon break up the chain of morbid sympathies that disturb the harmonious workings of the animal economy. The harrassing cough, the painful respiration, the sputum streaked with blood, will soon give place to the normal and proper workings of health and vigor.

An aggregated experience of over thirty years has enabled Dr. Keyser, in the compounding of his LUNG CURE, to give new hope to the consumptive invalid and at the same time speedy relief in those now prevalent, catarrhal and throat affections, so distressing in their effects and so almost certainly fatal in their tendencies, unless cured by some appropriate remedy. DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE is so thorough and efficient, that any one who has ever used it, will never be without it in the house. It will often cure when everything else fails, and in simple cases will cure oftentimes in a few days.

The attention of patients, as well as medical men, is respectfully invited to this new and valuable addition to the pharmacy of the country.

DR. KEYSER may be consulted every day until 1 o'clock P. M. at his Great Medicine Store, 167 Liberty street, and from 4 to 6 and 7 to 9 at night.

KEEP THE BODY IN GOOD REPAIR.

It is much easier to keep the system in good condition than to restore it to that condition when shattered by disease. The "House of Life," like other houses, should be promptly propped up and sustained whenever it shows signs of giving way. The first symptom of physical debility should be taken as a hint that a stimulant is required. The next question is, "what shall the stimulant be?"

A wholesome vegetable tonic, the stimulating properties of which are modified by the juices and extracts of anti-febrile and laxative roots and herbs—something which will regulate, soothe and purify, as well as invigorate—is the medicine required by the debilitated. There are many preparations which are claimed to be of this description, but HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the great vegetable preventive and restorative that has won its way to the confidence of the public and medical profession by a quarter of a century of unvarying success, stands pre-eminent among them all. To expatiate on its popularity would be to repeat a twice-told tale. It is only necessary to consult the records of the United States Revenue Department to learn that its consumption is greater than that of any other proprietary remedy of either native or foreign origin

As a means of sustaining the health and strength under a fiery temperature, the BITTERS have a paramount claim to consideration. It has the effect of fortifying and bracing the nervous and muscular systems against the ordinary consequences of sudden and violent changes of temperature, and is therefore peculiarly useful at this season, when hot sunshine by day and ice-cold dews by night, alternately heat and chill the blood of those who are exposed to them.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are sold in bottles only. To avoid being deceived by counterfeits, see that the name of the article is on the label, and embossed on the glass of the bottles, and our revenue stamp over the cork.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, 1869.

The enormous business done in gold last Friday is still unsettled, and it may take another day before a complete settlement can be had, meanwhile matters became more complicated by the heavy decline in stocks and bonds, deliveries can not be promptly effected on account of the large balances locked up in the gold clearings. To-morrow it is expected regular calls will be made at the different boards, and business will take its usual course. For gold, it is almost certain that lower quotations will ensue from the inability of the bull clique to raise margins enough to carry gold up. Just as soon as the timid bears, who escaped the last panic in gold, have covered their contracts, and the pressing remittances have been made, the demand for gold in a legitimate way will cease, and the course of speculation will naturally tend towards lower quotations, assisted by the arrival of gold from Europe, the Government sales and the anticipation of the November interest. By glancing over the stock list it is selfevident that the same clique who carried gold up, (or rather carried their oponents,) were also the principal supporters of the stock market, for certain special stocks. The same old clique that managed Erie, North West, Ohio and Mississippi, Reading and Michigan Southern, were the movers in gold, and although successful in the latter their profits were lost again, and more in addition on their favorite stocks, in which they were unable to carry any longer when the banks asked for more margins.

Government bonds have maintained a fair price yet, but do not seem to have reached the lowest point. Investors are holding off, and from the interior few orders to sell could be effected. Any further weakening of the price must depress their value in large proportions, as they will soon be manipulated by large dealers in order to get stocks at as low figures as possible; it should also not be overlooked that the panic so far has not affected the money market in the interior, except in Chicago, where grain speculation has undergone a similar course as gold and stocks in New York. A lower standard of all values is likely to follow this great decline in stocks, and the trade of the Country will then be in a healthier condition.

Money comparatively easy in our local markets, but banks do not discount except for their customers.

NEW YORK, September, 29, 1869.

Stormy debates in the Gold Room alternate with a remarkable depression and buoyancy. In the Stock Exchange, stock failures, receiverships and injunctions form a group of events which make the day without an equal in the annals of Wall street. At the early session of the Gold Board, the following was presented as a statement of the New York Gold Exchange Rank:

To the Committee of the Gold Board: An official of the Bank went into the Gold Room on the morning of Friday, the 24th instant, and suggested to a few that it would be impossible to clear the transactions of that day on account of an attempted corner, but on consultation it was decided that it was the duty of the bank to make the attempt, even at some sacrifice. The bank assumed the clearing movement in the usual manner and received in payment of balance a very large amount of gold and currency. It was necessary to restore a large portion of those amounts to the dealers, or widespread disaster would have followed. To do this the bank was forced to depart from the rule of receiving all balances before paying any, and went on paying dealers a portion of the balance on their statements and reserving a safe margin, where practicable, and trusting to the dealers to make good any over payment on their final settlements. This was the course pursued on Friday and Saturday. On Saturday a Committee was appointed at an informal meeting of the dealers to confer with the directors, who went into an investigation extending through Saturday and Sunday, on the plan to declare nine dealers rejected from the clearing, and assume the rest as good, the only basis of settlement they deemed practicable. The bank acted on this in paying dealers on Monday. The emergency of the settlement with the Clearing House of the banks on Monday and Tuesday, was passed by transferring to the Committee of the Clearing House a sufficient amount to secure the balance due the bank. The bank has now in its control, after settlement with the Clearing House Bank, not far from the amout of its capital and surplus with which to liquidate the dealer's statements, as soon as can be ascertained what is due from the bank to the dealers and from the dealers to the bank. It is the expectation that these results can be approximated to-day, and from all the evidence now accessible we believe the bank to be solvent and able to pay all its debts. No complications exist at present, except in our dealers' statements. The Bank has not failed or suspended; it has paid all its obligations as stated. It paid Monday's obligations at the Clearing House in gold at par, and on Tuesday in one million in gold and say $1,300,000 in securities.

[Signed] H. H. BENEDICT,
September 28, 1869. President.

The Committee of twenty appointed by the Gold Exchange worked steadily on the statements of dealers since 4 P. M. yesterday, and at 1 P. M. only two statements remained to be received, those of Smith, Gould & Martin and Knickerbocker & Co. The net result so far as ascertained is that the dealers are short with gold, but the Exchange Clearing House have $10,000,000 of gold which Smith, Gould & Martin are offering to sell them at 135. There appears no doubt but that the Committee will succeed in effecting the clearing on Friday's business, the settlement being made on a basis determined upon yesterday. The difference between 135 and the actual price will remain to be adjusted between the dealers themselves. At 3:45 the Committee of twenty reported to the Gold Room, in executive session, that they had referred the making up of a statement from the tickets of Smith, Gould & Martin to prominent accountants, and requested to be relieved from further duty. The report was accepted and it was agreed that the transactions of Friday he settled. The Ex-Clearing House and Board then adjourned till to-morrow.

The President of the Gold Room has been served with an injunction, granted on the application of Smith Gould, Martin & Co., restraining him from selling gold on their account. According to rule, the following resolution was passed by the New York Exchange: Resolved, That the members of the N. Y. Stock Exchange deal in gold in long room until such a time as the Governing Committee can effect a plan for establishing a Gold Room under the direction of this Association. The Stock Exchange, later in the day, passed a resolution to deal in gold in the Hall as of old, at open board of stock brokers; dealings to begin to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

A meeting of a joint committee representing the New York City Bank, Clearing House and New York Gold Exchange Bank, was held in the parlor of the Clearing House. At this meeting the Gold Exchange Bank, which made no clearings to-day, proposed to the Clearing House committee that the other banks should advance 20 per cent. on the $2,500,000 gold paid by the Gold Exchange Bank yesterday and the day before in the settlement of their indebtedness at the Clearing House which would enable them and the Gold Exchange Bank to pay their entire indebtedness. The effect of this would be to release the other securities held by the Committee and give the Gold Exchange Bank about $800,000 in currency. Several banks had agreed to furnish the means to carry out this proposition, when it was learned that the bank had been put into the hands of a receiver, consequently the negotiations were stopped. The injunction was granted by Judge Cardozo, on the application of a person claiming to be a creditor of the bank. The application for a permanent Receiver is returnable next Monday. Meantime Augustus Brown, of the law firm of Brown, Hall & Vanderpool, has been appointed temporary Receiver. The associated banks agreed, in response to the application of the Committee of twenty, to keep open to certify checks, &c., until four o'clock this afternoon, and, if necessary, until six o'clock at the Stock Exchange.

The failures of Charles A. Meigs & Co., Julian & Co. and of Fulton, Treat & Cox were reported; stocks were sold out for them under the rules. The latter firms are paying differences, but were unable to take the stocks they purchased yesterday. It is believed that both suspensions will prove but temporary. The name of Lockwood & Co. was used freely on the street in the afternoon as having failed, and it was finally stated that they made an assignment of their affairs to Capt. John R. Acker. This house has for years been one of the wealthiest in the street and one of the most influential. Their exact position on the market is not known, although they were credited with holding large amounts of Pacific Mail, Michigan Southern, North Western and St. Paul. On the other hand it is said they have been short of New York Central for the past twelve months.

Money market very unsettled and irregular most of the day, with transactions at 7 per cent. gold, with ½ to 1 per cent. per day for turning low priced stocks, and 1½@4 per cent. for carrying New York Central until to-morrow. In the afternoon there was a decided let up in money, and the rate for call loans finally fell to 7 per cent. Discount operations were out of the question entirely. Sterling nominal at 8@8¼. The street price for Gold was 130@132. The range at the National Exchange was 130¼, up to 133, and down to 131, closing at 131¾.

Governments heavy and lower. The Assistant Treasurer accepted bids of $3,000,000 at 115@116¼; total offers were $8,664,050. The closing rates were as follows: Coupons' of 1881, 118@118¼ do. '62, 119@119¼; do 64, 118@118¼; do. 65, 118@118¼; do. new 116⅜@116⅝; do. 67, 116½@116⅝; do. '68, 116½@116¾. 10-40s, 107½@108; Pacifics 6¼@6¼.

State bonds lower and neglected; Missouris, 84½; old Tennessees, 57; new do. 50½; old Virginias, 53; new do. 50; old North Carolinas, 45; new do. 60.

The dealings in stocks have been immense to-day; market very irregular and

GRAND RAPIDS AND INDIANA RAILROAD.

THE CONTRAST.

From Ft. Wayne, in Indiana, one hundred and forty miles north to Grand Rapids, we have passed through a succession of populous towns and over fields long since subdued from the natural state, and now yielding rich harvests to the hand of the husbandman. Now we plunge into the dense forest, an occasional clearing, with scanty patches of cultivation only serve to make the thicket and the heavy timber appear impenetrable and impossible of subjugation. It will be many long years before these tracts, bristling with obstructions, can be reduced to a productive State and support its own population—where then are your resources for railway traffic, where your manufactures, your agricultural products? To those who do not reflect upon the rapid disappearance of our once supposed to be inexhaustible stores of timber, these questions would naturally arise.

PINE LUMBER.

There are many individuals who can take a map and point to you the few places now left from which the great and constantly increasing demand for lumber can be supplied. These individuals will tell you that the region traversed by the line of this railroad contains probably the largest, and certainly the most accessible and valuable tract of Pine timber in the country. They will also tell you that this land was a few years ago regarded as of little or no value—five, ten, fifty dollars an acre are now paid for land for the value of the timber alone, for which a few years ago nobody would pay the government price of a dollar and a quarter an acre. Within a space of fifty miles from the line of this road, there are probably four millions of acres of fine timber land. This railroad will at once make this timber accessible to new and valuable markets.

THE LUMBERMAN.

The Muskegon, the Manistee, &c., large rivers, with their tributaries, furnish transportation for logs and unlimited water power for hundreds or thousands of mills, and the lumbermen will give instant and profitable employment to the railroad. Already upon some of these streams mills are erected, and many millions feet of lumber annually find way to Lake Michigan down their courses.

RAILROAD IN OPERATION.

Penetrating this region, forty miles of railroad are now completed, passing the villages of Rockford, Cedar Springs, &c., to Morland. Already a large business has been developed, sufficient to prove by a practical test that the road must be a profitable investment. Twenty miles of the road now under contract will be in operation in July next, which will pass the village of Big Rapids on the Muskegon to Paris on the same stream. Thence north of Little Traverse Bay, and to the Straits of Mackinaw, there are a few settlements of limited extent. The road passes within twenty miles of Traverse City, at the head of Grand Traverse Bay, to which place it is contemplated a branch may be profitably constructed.

MICHILIMACINAC.

The railroad will terminate at Mackinaw, a distance of three hundred and fifty-two miles from Fort Wayne, and will open up the trade of Lake Superior and Northern Michigan and Wisconsin bordering upon the lakes. D. H. W.

Arguing with Women.

[From the Saturday Review.]

Ingenious, but untrue, is the statement that men will not argue with women because they despise them. Able men do not despise cultivated and intelligent women, or think them incapable of throwing new light upon any subject that may be under discussion. On the contrary, such men know very well that, as regards the contribution of new and really valuable matter to any discussion, the general run of men and women in good society are pretty much on a par. The number of men who, in a discussion on any subject, can bring really fresh stores of ready and accurate knowledge to bear, are always very few. Men like Lord Macaulay or Sir W. Hamilton are not more plentiful in society than women like Miss Martineau. Tried by the standard of sound knowledge the talk of an average man is just as ignorant and nonsensical as the talk of an average woman. And tried by the standard of imagination—that is of the power of making new or unexpected combinations and comparisons—the talk of women is generally better, within certain limits, than that of men. In fact also, in the art of leading and drawing out discussion, women are, on the whole, far superior to men. So that it is not from a feeling of contempt that the cultivated man declines to argue with the cultivated woman.

A more plausible, but still unsatisfactory, theory is that men do not argue with women because women cannot argue, inasmuch as they are very inconsequencial and illogical. This theory is not worth so much as it is sometimes supposed. No doubt women are illogical. The number of women whose training and reading have been such as to enable them to pursue, for five minutes, a sound course of argument, is very small. But how great is the number of men who have that capacity? Let any man moving in a cultivated circle of general society—or even, perhaps, in the peculiar circles of Oxford or Cambridge—think over the list of his friends and acquaintances, both men and women: Is it possible that his women friends could be more tiresome in argument than he finds his man friends to be? Don't the men plague him with undistributed middles, begging the question, ambiguous terms, and fallacies in every mood of the four figures? Don't they, in arguing on any matter on which they are keenly interested, put sentiment and feelieg in place of just inference? The number of men who will make glaring blunders in argument may perhaps be less than that of women who will do so; but their superiority to women is, after all, not much greater than that of Cornelia to the rest of her sex—

> Who—so the did her sex eclipse—
> Could argue in a one eclipse.

The generality of women may perhaps be a little inferior to the generality of men in concious analysis of the processes of thought; but it is not this analysis which comes principaly into play in the course of an ordinary social argument. Such an argument generally consists, in the main, of the production by one side of contrary instances against the universal propositions hazarded by the other side—a struggle in which ready wit and a serviceable memory for details are much more valuable than any power of analyzing the laws of thought.

Nor is it satisfactory to say that men do not argue with women because women argue for victory, and not for truth. Women are, in this respect, neither much better nor much worse than men. Very few people, either men or women, argue with a pure desire to elucidate the truth, and in a spirit of indifference to their own personal success; because, in the first place, an argument is not a process whereby ignorant people may become better informed; and even if it were, in the second place, almost all people are carried away in the heat of argument to forget everything but the personal sense of competition, and the desire of victory which that competition excites. And it is by the light of this consideration that we see the true reason why men decline to argue with women. All argument is, in fact, except in the case of a few singularly well trained dispositions, a personal strife, or combat. It is like a game of chess between two moderate players, in which the love of science is almost always swallowed up by the desire to win. It is, in fact, a duel. And any one who remembers that to all dueling it is essential that the weapons and the laws of the combat be equal to both combatants, will see at once why men cannot argue with women. A man arguing with a woman is at a fatal disadvantage. Neither the weapons nor the laws of combat are equal. He fights with a blunted sword or a blunderbuss; she with a double-edged rapier, or an "arm of precision." He must stand, but may not deliver, the fire of personalities. He must not outstep certain bounds, whereas her range is unlimited. He is strictly forbidden to deliver certain effective thrusts, "shocks," as she calls them. He must not "shock her delicacy—a very favorite restriction with rather underbred women, and with American ladies, He must not "shake her faith" —a restriction upon which most women require an argument upon any of the most deeply interesting problems of the day to be conducted. And she is to be the umpire, or arbiter, whether he breaks any of these restrictions. In short, argument, even with an able woman, is a game the law of which is "Heads, you win; tails, I lose"—a game at which no sensible man cares to play.

James Russell Lowell.

It is strange that when second-rate rhymesters are rising into notoriety every day, a poet like James Russell Lowell, who breathes the true poetic spirit irresistibly and winningly in every line he writes, should be all but unknown among us. Those who do know Lowell's words know that in his sweet singing there is to be found in a most eminent degree that mysterious subtle power of calling out and bringing together the sympathies of man and nature which marks the true poet and makes the reader almost a poet himself so long as he is under the spell. To my mind he is, without question, the first living poet that writes English, and yet if his name is ever heard in England, it is but as that of a comic writer who has helped Mr. Bright to some apt quotations upon war and principles. The fact that he is an American cannot explain it; for Longfellow, who is not to be compared with him in any of the attributes of a poet, is an American too, and his name is a household word among us; but perhaps the fact that he is American, not only in nationality, but in thought and tone, may have something to do with it. He hates slavery and privilege, is not very fond of kings, priests or aristocracies, and enters heart and soul into the experiment that is being made in his own country to do without them. But, above all, he hates "war" and "glory," and he dealt them many a severe blow in his so-called humorous, but really most pathetic, "Biglow Papers," all showing that he has tendencies and sympathies little appreciated in England. The poems in "Under the Willows" may, however, claim readers from all and every side, and with all of them they will leave a sweet hum as a hushed instrument.—Vanity Fair.

Never Raise a Child by the Hand or Wrist.

It is a common practice of nurses and parents to grasp children by a single hand or wrist, and lift them bodily, as in stepping over gutters, streams, &c Occasionally a child is seized by the hands and swung around with great force, the body being held nearly at right angles. This feat is not always followed by immediate ill effects, but it is liable to result in most serious injury. At this period of life, the ends of the long bones are united to the shafts by cartilage, which renders them weak and liable to be distorted by force. There are three of these bones in the arm; one between the shoulder and elbow, and two between the elbow and wrist. The arm of the child is, therefore, very weak. When extension is made at the hand, the force is not expended upon long, firm bones, but rather upon bones broken at several points, and very loosely united. A small force, far less than is required to break a fully formed bone, will separate the cartilaginous portions, or permanently bend them. There is also another form of injury which may occur at the instant. Of this I have seen several examples. It consists in a slight displacement of the cartilages in one of the joints, either the wrist or elbow, attended pain, swelling, and tenderness. The joint is fixed in a semi-flexed position, and the little sufferer will not allow it to be moved or even handled. It can be easily rectified by a surgeon, by forcible flexion and extension. Finally, by lifting a child in this manner the ligaments about the joints may be extended, and this will weaken the joints, and this weakness may remain as a permanent disability.—From the Note-book of an Eminent Physician, in Hearth and Home.

THE London Lancet recites a fatal experiment in practice, recently made under the auspices of that most learned body, the French Academy of Science. A patient suffering from cholera having reached the state of collapse, a member of the Academy, reasoning from the fact that muscular contraction followed the exhibition of prussic acid, decided to try it upon him. A dose was given, with no special effect. It was several times repeated. Contraction did not ensue, but neither did the usual consequences of applying poison. In a short time, muscular contraction was resumed, and then, to the astonishment of the physician, the patient almost immediately expired. Clearly, he had been poisoned to death. While he was in collapse, the prussic acid was inactive as if it had been placed upon a dead tissue; the moment circulation commenced it was taken up, with the usual result.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the livor and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the food will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilitious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. mv19:151-d&F

Printer Wanted.

A first-class Compositor can obtain a permanent situation at this office, by making immediate application.

F. W. Bennett, residing on Fulton street, had the cap of his right knee misplaced yesterday by a fall on the steps of his house. He was attended by a physician.

Travel on the Citizens Passenger Railway was impeded yesterday for about half an hour by the breaking down of a wagon, loaded with hay, on the track near Ninth street.

Abandonment —Pauline Gwinner made information before Justice Heisel, yesterday, charging her husband, Louis Gwinner, with abandonment. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Alleged Counterfeiter.—Wm. Swan was arrested yesterday and taken before U. S. Commissioner Gamble, on a charge of passing a counterfeit U. S. Treasury note. The accused entered bail for a hearing Saturday.

Serious Charge.—Yesterday David Allen, of Coultersville, made information before Alderman Neeper against W. K. Kramer, a married man, charging him with improper intimacy with his daughter. The accused was arrested and gave bail for trial.

The Verdict.—Coroner Clawson yesterday held an inquest on the body of Frank A. Davins, aged seven months, and who died suddenly at the residence of its parents, 155 Fulton street. Dr. Daly testified that the child died of congestion of the lungs, and a verdict was rendered accordingly.

Assault and Battery.—John Stock made information before Justice Salisbury, yesterday, charging William Manley with assault and battery. The parties work at the Pittsburgh Iron Works, where it appears they got into a difficulty, when it is alleged the accused struck the prosecutor with his fist. A warrant was issued.

Slight Fire.—A fire breke out in the oil refinery of Lockhart, Frew & Co. last night, caused by the bursting of one of the stills but was fortunately soon extinguished through the exertions of the men employed about the refinery without much loss being sustained. For a time the extensive works were in great danger of being totally destroyed,

Personal.—We had a friendly call from Mr. Hudson, of the well known general advertising agency of Hudson & Menet, of New York and San Francisco. Few advertising agencies in the country sustain as high business reputation, and from long personal acquantance and business dealing we can commend the firm to the fullest confidence of our advertising community.

Gymnastic Honor.—The Caledonian Club, of Birmingham, has awarded to Mr. Christ. Hauch, the well-known gymnast, a heavy solid silver medal for being the winner of the "sack race" on the occasion of the recent Caledonian sports. The medal is inscribed: "Presented by the Caledonian Club of Birmingham and vicinity, to C. Hauch. Sack Race" "Nemo me impune lacesset."

The Lecture Season.—We have already announced that a course of lectures was to be given this season under the auspices of Hays Post, No. 3, G. A. R. Lectures are to be delivered by Josh Billings, Miss Kate Field, Hon. Justin McCarthy, Rev. E. P. Roe, John G. Saxe, Mrs. Frances, M. Carter and Elizabeth Cady Stanton. The price of season tickets has been placed at $2.00, and are for sale at the music stores of Barr, Knake & Buettler's, St. Clair street, and Mellor & Hoene's, on Fifth avenue.

Thanks.—We are indebted to the Sixth ward Geary Club for a kindly notice last night in the way of hearty cheers as they passed and halted in frout of our office. This organization is doing able service in the campaign, and with its popular commander, Capt. Robert Houston, is under excellent training and discipline. We thank the members for the compliment paid us, and cordfally invite them to again permit us to pass them in review from the windows of our sanctum.

Complimentary Resolutions.—At a meeting of the Reading Teachers Institution held a few days since, a series of resolutions were adopted, returning thanks to Mr. H. Moore, our effecient and obliging City Engineer, and Mr. James Verner, President of the Citizens Passenger Railway, and Mr. Nixon, proprietor of the O'Hara Glass Works, for courtesies extended them during their recent visit to Pittsburgh, at the close of the session of the State Teacherse Association held in Greensburg about two months since.

Youthful Depredators.—Some time Tuesday night the store of Mrs. Christiana Burebach was entered, the thieves breaking the glass in the front window to effect an entrance, and carrying off cash and tobacco to the amount of eighteen dollars. The proprietress suspected two boys, Adam Herriott and Louis Bergstresser, of the theft, and instituted proceedings against them yesterday, before Alderman Bolster. Herriott was arrested and gave bail for a hearing. The other lad has not been secured.

Church Repaired.

The Fifth (formerly Pennsylvania) avenue M. E. Church, which has been undergoing repairs for some time past, will be reopened for public service on Sunday next. During the interim extensive improvements have been made, and the auditorium is now one of the neatest as well as one of the most comfertable in the city. On Sunday morning the pulpit will be occupied by Rev. J. McKendrie Reilley, D. D., a divine who is well known in this city for eloquence and ability.

Solution Approaching.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Soldiers' Monumental Association the following preamble and resolutions were offered and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, There appears to be a great diversity of opinion existing as to whether the Soldiers' Monument should be located in the city of Pittsburgh or Allegheny City; therefore,

Resolved, That the Building Committee appointed by this Association be and they are hereby instructed to prepare tickets and submit the question to a vote of the people of this county, the tickets to be —"For the City of Pittsburgh," and "For Allegheny City," a majority of the votes polled to decide the matter.

Resolved, That after the people shall have decided as to whether the monument shall be located in Pittsburgh or Allegheny City, this Committee shall, as soon thereafter as practicable, designate the spot in the city chosen whereon the monument shall be erected.

THE COURTS.

United States Court—Judge McCandless.

The tobacco was seized because the boxes were stamped with counterfeit stamps. Monitions were issued, returnable on the 18th October.

District Court—Judges Hampton and Kirkpatrick.

WEDNESDAY, September 29.—In the case of John Chess for use of Adam Appel vs. William Barnhill & Co., published yesterday, the jury found for the defendants.

In the case of O'Hara vs. Pennsylvania R. R. Co., defendant's counsel moved for a new trial.

The next case taken up was that of the Commonwealth et rel Wm. Martin vs. The Trustees of Plum Creek Church and Congregation, which was a petition for a mandamus to command the defendants to finish a building to be used as a place of worship and make it suitable for such purposes. This case has been before the Court for some time past in various phases, and arises out of a disagreement between the members of the Plum Creek Church. It appears that a portion of the members and trustees concluded to build a new church at New Texas. The other portion was opposed to changing the site of the building and decided to erect a new house on the old location. Acting on this, the latter portion proceeded to demolish the building and to erect a new one immediately. An injunction was subsequently obtained to restrain the parties from prosecuting the work. The work was continued, however, and the walls run up nearly to the required height. At this juncture the trustees, a majority of whom it would seem were in favor of the New Texas site, were asked to complete the building, but declined doing so on the ground that the majority of the congregation were opposed to the Convention. The house has remained in this condition for nearly three years past, and the object of the present action is to compel the trustees to complete the building. Messrs. Mellon and Woods appeared for the petitioner, and Messrs. Marshall, Brown and McClurg for the respondents. The case will occupy several days, as a large number of witnesses are in attendance.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Mellon.

WEDNESDAY, September 29.—In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Wm. Einstein, who was tried on nine indictments for selling liquor on Sunday, previously reported, the jury returned verdicts of guilty in every case. Sentence deferred.

The first case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. George Dickson, indicted for assault and battery with intent to commit rape, Elizabeth Frugus, prosecutrix. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and directed the prosecutrix, Elizabeth Furgus, to pay the costs.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Christy Bradford and William Richardson was next taken up. This was an indictment for larceny, in which Andrew Sheehan was prosecutor. It was alleged that the defendants had stolen $40 from the prosecutor while at Jim Williams' saloon. The jury returned a verdict of guilty. Mr. McCarthy, counsel for defendants, moved for a new trial in arrest of judgment.

The next case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. John Boyd, indicted for burglary. The offense was alleged to have been committed at the house of the prosecutrix, Mrs. Jones, on Chestnut street, Birmingham, in May last, when it appears Boyd and two others entered the house through the cellar door and stole a quantity of whisky. The other two were arrested and tried at the June session. The jury, without leaving the box, returned a verdict of guilty and recommended the prisoner to the mercy of the Court. Mr. Large, defendant's counsel, moved for a new trial in arrest of judgment.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Mathias Puruker, indicted for felonious assault and battery, David O'Connell prosecutor, was next called. The defendant is a police officer and, it appears, during a riot at Iron City Park, the particulars of which we published at the time of the occurrence, fired a pistol, the ball from which struck David McCarthy, a nephew of the prosecutor. On trial,

POLITICAL.

Meeting in the Eleventh Ward—Addresses by Thos. M. Howard and R. B. Carnahan, Esqs.

One of the largest political meetings of the campaign, outside of City Hall, was held at the School Hall in the Eleventh ward last evening. A band of music was in attendance, and the Second Ward Geary Club and the Seventh and Eighth Ward Marching Phalanx turned out in strength, which, with the large number of citizens of the ward and others present, filled the spacious Hall to its utmost capacity, and the audience was quiet and attentive throughout the meeting, save when aroused to enthusiasm by the speeches.

The meeting was called to order by H. W. Oliver, Jr., on whose motion the following named gentlemen were elected officers:

President—Hon. J. K. Moorhead.

Vice Presidents—Wm. Culp, Joseph A. Butler, James Cassiday, C. Hanson Love, Joseph Hartman, S. McChesney, Samuel Barclay, John Wendlass, W. K. Hart, T. A. Rowley, D. Fitzsimmons, W. A. Gildenfenney.

Secretaries—B. F. Kennedy, S. Washington Hill, F. Rainbow.

On taking the Chair Mr. Moorhead thanked the meeting for selecting him to preside over it, and after apologizing for the absence of Judge Kelly, who it had been announced would address the meeting, but who had been unexpectedly called away, introduced Thos. Howard, Esq., who addressed the meeting in an able and eloquent manner. The speaker took up the platform of the Democracy of Pennsylvania adopted at Harrisburg, and "went through" it most completely, after which the national platform of that party, adopted at Tammany Hall, New York, on the Fourth of July, 1868, which he also riddled. The financial policies of the opposing parties were then ably discussed and the prosperity of the country since Grant's inauguration referred to with telling effect. In conclusion, Mr. Howard considered the claims of the opposing candidates for Governor to the suffrage of the people of Pennsylvania, and thought that the claims of General Geary, who was covered with wounds in the defence of the nation's honor during the great rebellion, were supreme to those of Asa Packer, the money bags of Mauch Chunk, who had been dodging the tax collectors to escape paying his taxes to defray the expenditures of the war.

R. B. Carnahan, Esq., was then introduced, and made a pertinent speech, and closed by calling upon all present to turn out on election day, giving such a majority in Allegheny county as would forever put Pennsylvania out of the list of doubtful States.

The Will of James Marshall.

The last will and testament of James Marshall, deceased, was admitted to probate in the office of Joseph H. Gray, Register of Wills, on the 27th inst. It is very brief and concise, and is void of anything like eccentricity. The will bears date of May 25th, 1867.

Mrs. Matilda Marshall, wife of the deceased, his son James Marshall, Jr., his son-in-law Mark Watson, and brother Thomas M. Marshall, are appointed his executors.

A legacy of $6,000 is bequeathed to the executors in trust for Jane P. Rambon, a neice, and to his wife is bequeathed in lien of dower the Homestead Mansion and furniture and the sum of $4,000 per annum during her lifetime. The remainder of the estate is bequeathed to the executors in trust for the heirs, with whom it is to be divided, share and share alike, when they arrive at the age of twenty-one years. The executors are empowered to buy and sell real estate, and can invest the money in any way they may deem of advantage to the heirs. No inventory of the effects has as yet been held, consequently we cannot give the amount of the estate.

Grand Public Sale of Lots.

We again invite special public attention to the sale on Friday afternoon, at two o'clock, of the beautiful plots of ground of one to five acres each, situated at City View, on the lower Perrysville road, a mile and a quarter from the Diamond. Anybody having the remotest idea of buying a lot should by all means attend this sale. The grounds are handsomely laid out, have good roads, wide avenues, pleasant views, good water, good air and abundance of fruit, Free omnibusses will leave the corner of Ohio and East streets for the grounds from one till two o'clock. Prudent and sagacious men will, on a survey of this property be convinced of the benefit of present investment. The auctioneer, Mr. Leggate, will furnish plans and all information on application at his office, 159 Federal street, Allegheny.

LADIES FURS.

The Approach of the Season—Where the Newest Styles and the Best General Assortment can be Obtained—Wm. Fleming & Co. take the Lead and Announce Full Lines now Ready for the Inspection of their Patrons.

The falling leaves, cool evenings coaxing the genial warmth of fire, frost-coated mornings causing the blood to chill and grow cold, are all evidences that winter is approaching and that the season is near at hand when the ladies will be donning their furs as a measure of defence against the blasts of cruel King Winter. As Fashion is fickle and ever-changing doubtless many of our lady friends will have to make new selections in order to replenish their wardrobes and it will be received kindly for us to say a few words of William Fleming & Co.'s popular fur emporium, No. 139 Wood street. The name of this house is as familiar to our readers as a heusehold word and it is known equally as well hundreds of miles about us, and is as suggestive of ladies' furs as is winter itself. As in previous seasons, so in the present this great representative house leads all others in the extent, variety and style of their goods as well as in the very low prices at which they are sold. The stock with which they commence their fall and winter trade is immense in its proportion, far surpassing and excelling that of any other house in the city. It was purchased from the largest and best manufacturers in the United States during the summer months, at such prices as will enable Messrs. Fleming & Co. to sell at from 15 to 25 per cent. less than regular figures. The stock consists of Mink, Sable, German Fitch, Water Mink, Siberian Squirrel, Astrican and Persian Lamb of various grades and varieties, and manufactured into the latest styles of Cloaks, Berthas, Eugenias, Collars, Muffs and Boas, all of which will prove highly attractive to our lady readers. Those desiring to purchase this season would do well to do so at once, as they will thus secure great advantages, both in selection and prices, as in proportion as the season advances furs always enhance in value. In conclusion, let us again take occasion to impress on our readers the fact that at no where else in the city can they secure as wide selection and as great bargains as at the popular and extensive Hat, Cap and Ladies' Fur house of Wm. Fleming & Co., No. 139 Wood street.

The Alleged Illegal Tickets.

At a regular meeting of the County Executive Committee of the Temperance and Reform movement, held at headquarters, September 19th, 1869, Mr. T. J. Hoskinson was called on to preside, when the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, An erroneous statement appeared in this morning's Commercial, intimating that the Executive Committee of the Temperance and Reform movement are making arrangements to issue illegal tickets; and

WHEREAS, The leaders of the aforesaid movement were ignorant of any tickets having been printed, until their attention was called to the fact; and

WHEREAS, There is no intention of doing anything with a view to injuring either of the political parties, therefore

Resolved, That a Committee be appointed, consisting of Messrs. S. Y. Kennedy, David Kirk and John A. Carothers, to wait on the Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee, and also the Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, and solicit from those gentlemen a correct copy of their respective tickets for publication, omitting the names of their candidates for County Commissioner.

The following card from W. S. Haven & Co., explains itself:

Illegal Tickets.

[CARD FROM W. S. HAVEN & CO.]

In explanation of the statement made in Wednesday morning's Commercial with reference to illegal tickets having been issued by the Executive Committee of the Temperance and Reform movement, we wish to say that, through a misunderstanding between the person having charge of the printing for the Committee and the foreman in our office, a few tickets were incorrectly printed, but that so soon as the error was discovered, orders were given to suspend the printing until the error could be corrected. We also wish to state that none of the tickets have been put in circulation, but have all been destroyed. W. S. HAVEN & Co.

Pleasant Occasion.

A meeting of the Masons and Bricklayers of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad was held an evening or two since at Odd Fellows Hall, Latrobe, for the purpose of presenting a gold watch and chain to Mr. Uriah Heacox, Master Mechanic of the Division. Mr. M. C. McMillen presided, and Mr. John L. Chambers acted as Secretary. Mr. W. S. Jackson made the presentation speech in the happiest manner imaginable, in which he took occasion to pay high compliment to the worthy recipient, who has endeared himself to all the employes of the road.

Samuel Singleton, Esq., responded in behalf of the recipient in a fitting manner. The watch was an elegant and valuable one, made by the United States Watch Company, stem winder, and one of the best adjusted movements with massive solid gold cases, to which was attached a beautiful heavy gold chain. Both watch and chain were purchased by the committee, Messrs. Kennis Brannock, Joseph Bossart and James L. Shields, from our well known jeweller W. G. Dunseath, No. 56 Fifth avenue, and the excellence of the articles bore evidence that their confidence was not misplaced in favoring that house with their patronage.

The Education of Little Boys

Who have passed their fifth year and not entered their teens is a more important task than most parents imagine, and is attended with more serious difficulty. Their tender minds between these ages are as pliant as wax, and are constantly receiving impressions for good or bad which will forever remain with them through life. The subject of their education has ever been almost entirely neglected, and to this cause, more than any other, can be traced much of the wickedness of youth of older growth. We are glad to learn that Rev. Father Christy, known as a patriotic and benevolent chaplain in the late Union Army, has established in a beautiful garden spot of Ebensburg, Pa., one of the prettiest villages of the Allegheny mountains, a boarding school for little boys which has just been thrown open for public patronage. It is in the charge of several finely educated Sisters of St. Joseph, who devote their exclusive attention to the education and moral training of the boys entrusted to their keeping. We look forward to see this youthful college expand into importance and bespeak for it the close attention of those charged with the responsible duty of rearing, educating and training boys.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—That John E. Owens is popular with Pittsburgh amusement seekers, we had abundant evidence in the crowded house which greeted him last evening. He remains three nights more only. To-night he will appear in the great characters, "Dr. Ollopod" in "The Poor Gentleman," and "Timothy Toodles" in "Toodles." Lovers of a first class entertainment and the highest merit as an actor will appreciate this entertainment.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—The variety company at this place of amusement still continues to attract a large share of patronage. Their performances are very attractive and above the average style of these entertainments.

THE GREGORIES.—The Gregories still hold forth at the Academy of Music. To-night an entire change in the programme will take place. This entertainment is of that character which pleases everybody.

MASONIC HALL.—The Philomathic Circle, a literary organization that has achieved high reputation from the numerous first class musical and literary entertainments given under the auspices of the members, will again appear before the public at Masonic Hall this evening. The programme is an excellent one, embracing several musical gems, the excellent St. Cecelia orchestra band, original orations, declamations, comic and sentimental, a drama and farce. We hope there will be a crowded audience, and we can assure all who attend a pleasant and enjoyable evening.

KEYSTONE RINK.—The first exhibition of the sterescoptico panorama of Bunyan's Pilgrim Progress takes place at the Keystone Skating Rink to-night. Aside from the meritorious object of these exhibitions, they should atract large audiences for their intrinsic merit. The musical exercises alone are well worth the price of admission. We trust the Rink will be crowded to-night.

South Common Nuisance.

We learn that some of the citizens on Stockton Avenue west of Federal street, Allegheny, have resolved to institute legal proceedings for the abatement of the unsightly and noisome nuisances which have most unaccountably been suffered to remain and accumulate on the Common and to mar and obstruct the avenue. Hoping to avert the scandal and the cost of such a proceeding, we have heretofore given place to sundry communications from the aggrieved citizens; suppressing also several on account of their caustic, although just severity.

We allude to the subject now in the hope that the suit which we are told is seriously determined upon, may yet be averted by such prompt action of the proper authority, as the case clearly demands. The delinquent officer, whether Mayor, Street Commissioner or Park Commissioners, on whichsoever the duty falls, should himself be mulcted in all the costs to which private citizens may, by such gross and persistent neglect of duty, be forced to bring on the city. If the reader will visit the spot he will dismiss all doubt of the justice of our remarks, and of the structures of our correspondents upon this subject.

[Extract from a letter from Jerusalem.]

"We started early to ascend Mt. Olivet, to behold the sun gild the minarets and towers of the devoted city, from the place where memory, stirred by a thousand associations, should exalt the mind as well as the eye to the inspiration of the scene. Well is the voyager repaid for long travels, horrid roads, antediluvian cookery, squalid companionship and the importunities of begging, thieving Arabs. Well would it have repaid you, oh! man of commerce and the crucible! and well might you have been reminded of your own city, for here, painted upon a board nailed against one of the huge ancient olive trees, under which the sacred martyrs toiled for the sins of the world, eighteen hundred years ago, were these familiar figures, S. T.—1860—X. We do not know who did it, but no doubt some poor invalid traveler, cured by the PLANTATION BITTERS, wished to advertise their virtues in a place from whence all knowledge flows."

—The New York Times says the crash in stocks Tuesday afternoon, has, it is said, seriously affected many houses which escaped the crash in gold that week. Houses which suffered by the fall in the gold market and were brought almost to the verge of ruin could not be expected to withstand the double shock, and it is expected that to-day will reveal the fact that a very large number of firms have gone under. If the Gold Exchange Bank should fail to meet its obligations, or if a run should be made on that institution, it is expected that the crash in Wall street will be entirely overwhelming. That the bank is in a critical condition is felt certain, that it has lost the confidence of the brokers is a fact, and with this support withdrawn from it the end of that institution must soon follow. The Herald calls on Congress to enact a law against gold gambling, and holds Secretary Boutwell responsible for the present bad state in monetary affairs. The Tribune says the feeling against the Gold Exchange Bank is justly deepe than at any previous time, and the general uncertainty in Wall street continues, with an expectation on the part of many that there are still troublous times ahead of us.
